Letter of Reference for Alexis M.B. Roberts

This letter is to serve as a reference for Alexis M.B. Roberts. I have known Alexis for the last eight years in the capacity of an employee at the museum where we both worked, a professional colleague for museum related public programs, a collaborator on independent consulting projects, and now as a friend.

I have witnessed Alexis working with children and adults and have been impressed by her skill and creativity in creating dynamic learning environments and opportunities for people of all ages. Alexis has experience in project coordination and management, research, content development, and in teaching adults and children. She has strong skills in process development, interpretation of complex concepts, and possesses the skills to design and develop ideas in a graphic format for print and web publication. Alexis uses her skills to drive projects and keep them on time and within budget. She is goal driven and has the skill to work on multiple projects simultaneously with different team members while maintaining high standards for programs and project deliverables. She is tireless when it comes to the projects she is responsible for and enjoys working both by herself and as a member of a team. Alexis is candid and straightforward in her communications and acts on constructive criticism with a welcoming attitude.

I recommend Alexis for a position that utilizes her skill set of project management, teaching, research, or interpretive planning and development. Please feel free to contact me for more information, or to discuss Alexis' skills as they relate to a specific position for which she is being considered.

Respectfully,

Mimi Quintanilla
